

Sample Logistics Services

Sample logistics is covering or is part of a complex landscape from automated storages ... to LIMS, and DWH. The sample logistics pillars are the same if you deal with chemical substances, human samples or cell cultures: You need to store, order and deliver samples.

What needs to be done?

A precise business and market analysis, evaluation of software solutions, but also good knowledge of major suppliers and requirements for the warehouse and ordering solution represents the basic framework. The complete implementation, data migration, adaptation into an existing or new IT environment. This includes integration testing and training, but also know-how about software vendors and developers.
